

A Talk By MARK REIFF, Ph.D.

Political, Legal, and Moral Philosopher & Author
Department of Philosophy, UC Davis

Climate Change and Capitalism

MARK REIFF, Ph.D. has taught political, legal, and moral philosophy at the University of Manchester, the University of Durham, and is currently at UC Davis. He was a Faculty Fellow at the Safra Center for Ethics at Harvard University. He is also a lawyer who practiced in California prior to obtaining his Ph.D. at the University of Cambridge in 2003.

Dr. Reiff's areas of interest include normative ethics, legal theory, social and political philosophy, political economy, and public policy. His articles have appeared in leading academic journals internationally, and he is the author of five books, most recently: In the Name of Liberty: The Argument for Universal Unionization (2020).

Thursday March 19, 7:30 PM
Friends Meetinghouse 345 L Street (at 4th), Davis

Davis Friends Meeting (Quakers)

Open • Welcoming • Affirming