

Davis Climate Speaker Series 2021

Mark Reiff, Ph.D.

Political, Legal, and Moral Philosopher & Author
Department of Philosophy, UC Davis

Climate Change and Capitalism

MARK REIFF, PhD has taught political, legal, and moral philosophy at the University of Manchester, the University of Durham, and was a Faculty Fellow at the Safra Center for Ethics at Harvard University. Before obtaining his PhD at the University of Cambridge in 2003, he practiced law in California. He is the author of five books, most recently: In the Name of Liberty: The Argument for Universal Unionization (2020).

Dr. Reiff sees climate change not as failure of capitalism, but a failure of our political system to reign in the conduct of economic actors. In this talk he will discuss these political failures and how capitalism actually explains where we have gone wrong and why we need to address rather than ignore our environmental problems.

Tuesday March 23, 7:00 PM

More Info and Registration for Zoom link:

<https://www.cooldavis.org/cool-events>

Davis Friends Meeting (Quakers)
Open • Welcoming • Affirming

Cool Davis
Coalition

Yolo Interfaith Alliance
for Climate Justice