

The Yolo Interfaith Alliance for Climate Justice consists of nine Davis congregations and is open to any congregation from Yolo County that supports the mission.

*Green Task Force of Davis United Methodist Church,
Green Sanctuary Committee of the Unitarian Universalist Church of Davis,
Green Faith Action Team of Lutheran Church of the Incarnation,
Care for God's Creation Commission of the Episcopal Church of St. Martin,
Davis Friends Meeting,
Davis Community Church,
St. James Gospel Justice Group of St. James Catholic Church, University Covenant Church and Congregation Bet Haverim*

Yolo Interfaith Alliance for Climate Justice

The mission of the Yolo Interfaith Alliance for Climate Justice is to inspire our faith communities to work together to reduce our dependence on fossil fuels, educate ourselves on climate issues and speak out for climate justice.

Interfaith Alliance is looking for ways to educate members of faith groups about the urgency of reducing greenhouse gas emissions, and then to follow-up with steps that either 1) lead to a lower carbon footprint at the personal level like biking and carpooling to worship instead of driving or learning to cook with less meat, or 2) lead to advocacy – especially given our proximity of the state legislature – through gathering signatures on petitions, holding letter-writing sessions, taking carpools to legislative hearings and speaking, etc. This March is our third annual climate conference.

Yolo Interfaith Alliance for Climate Justice is a working group under the Cool Davis Coalition Partners. Many faith groups are Cool Davis Partners. It was founded in the fall of 2012.